Living in the Presence

In Alcoholics Anonymous we learn to live in what is referred to in the Big Book as the fourth dimension. This is a powerful shift in consciousness. When I came into AA I was full of fear. The past was over, the present included profound grief over the loss of my wife of 20 years, and the future was bleak. I was lost in fear and had sought solace in alcohol. That led me to deeper despair and suicidal attempts. I was confused and did not understand what was happening to me.

From the first moment I walked into AA I knew I was powerless over alcohol and that my life had become unmanageable. Being raised Lutheran it was easy for me to believe in a Power greater than myself including all of my new friends as well as a Creative Loving Energy I had turned away from years earlier. I trusted the group and the process.

With each meeting, each exchange with another AA member, every new day in sobriety I learned to let go of the past, quit anticipating the future, and experience the NOW, the present moment. And the more I did that, prayed and meditated, I became aware of the PRESENCE which is an experience of the Divine unfolding in every person and situation. A new-found peace began to emerge and lasted longer and longer each day. (See Presence on Page 3)

With each meeting, each exchange with another AA member, every new day in sobriety I learned to let go of the past, quit anticipating the future, and experience the NOW, the present moment. And the more I did that, prayed and meditated, I became aware of the PRESENCE which is an experience of the Divine unfolding in every person and situation. A new-found peace began to emerge and lasted longer and longer each day.

Today I practice the presence, that is, I constantly try to have my focus be on the wholeness and beauty of each moment. I remind myself, when I get anxious, that I have everything I need AT THIS MOMENT. Nothing more is required for me to feel peace and serenity...just to let go and BE IN THE MOMENT. This is much more than relief from alcohol, it is a profound new way of living that we all are learning and practicing in each moment. How blessed we are!

Respectfully submitted, Rose B.
(Not Just Another Newcomers Meeting, RP)

Two Bucks Is the New Dollar (from the Akron IG News)

Have you been able to stay away from a drink because of A.A.? Have you gotten your life back? How much is that worth to you? In the rooms, we A.A. members agree that our sobriety is an undeserved gift from a higher power. While the message is free, our meeting, Central Office, Area and New York Office have expenses to carry the AA message. For those of us who can afford it, it is our responsibility to put more than a dollar in the basket. Many of our members go beyond this! However, many more do not. Where we used to give $1, we must try to give $2. And those of us not giving at all, we must try giving something and have faith we will be taken care of for helping. It works, it really does. Are you giving more to the coffee chain on the corner than to the Program that gave you your life? Part of spiritual growth is adapting to reality. The reality is the world is more expensive and a buck doesn't go far enough. Let's get real, let's get sober and give a little more.

The Third Legacy, "I am available."

By Nora H., District 70 (Alameda South) Alternate DCMC
(Reprinted from District 12, November Newsletter)

It's an immense privilege for me to be able to come visit the districts. And I always look forward to my visit to District 12. You all do such an awesome job and you're such great examples of leadership in AA. It's amazing to sit here and hear your sub-district reports. Your reporting is exceptional and doesn't happen everywhere. Thank you all for your service to your groups and to AA as a whole.

"Am I Available?" This is the question we get to ask ourselves. Particularly at this time of year, in service, as we have that beautiful thing called Rotation. My experience has been that for every service position that I have ever had, it's been a leap of faith. AA's uncommon sense becomes common sense. In elections held in other places, folks throw their hat in a ring. In AA, we throw our names into the hat. So, why is it called Third Legacy? It's called the Third Legacy election procedure because it's about service. The question becomes not, "who wants to be (fill in the blank)," but "I am available to serve as (fill in the blank)."

At this point, my "committee" says: 1. You're not good enough. 2. You're too good. The solution here is the same unshakeable foundation for life: Prayer, mediation and inventory. I take my inventory and look at my track record in service: What kind of service have I rendered? Did I show up and do my best? Are there any particular skills that will be required, and, do I have those? Do I have the time? Can I accomplish the tasks? Study the position description and what other qualifications may be specified.

Having taken inventory, I seek a conscious contact with my higher power, seeking guidance through prayer and meditation. I'm thoughtful of others: How might this service impact my spouse, my employer, my children or other dependents? Do I have their support?

3. Someone else will be better. Selfish. It denies my colleagues the opportunity to choose between the available candidates. So that is ME, making up MY mind, for THEM. Selfish.

4. You're too busy. Am I available to be of service to the program that saved my life? For me, there is no amount of service that I could render that would begin to repay that debt of gratitude.

This is why I need the 3rd legacy procedure: Because I am an alcoholic. There are no certainties, no shoe-ins. And, the only qualification is a desire and availability to serve.

My higher power has always supplied the tools for the job as long as I am humble enough and remember that I can also ask for help. For example, when I first made myself available to serve as an Area Officer I had been told, "You gotta have a car." Well, I don't have a car. So, I looked to see where all the District meetings were in our Area. I figured out how I would get to each meeting: By bus, train or some other means. I had a plan. Guess what happened when people found out my situation? I got all kinds of help and rides offers! This is what happens when I make myself available for service. This is when the magic happens. I got to really know some people because we spent so much time together in the car!

Making myself available and trusting the third legacy procedure is a sweet surrender. It helps me avoid the temptations of manipulation and politicking. It's an opportunity to show up, suit up, and let the universe take its course.

The Third Legacy is a playground of spiritual principles and its application is a demonstration of our faith in the program of Alcoholics Anonymous.

At our International Convention, as we wait for the big meeting to start, a wave goes around the stadium. General Service is like that. Every two years, the service wave comes around. And, I have a choice to stay seated or to participate: To stand and raise my hands.

A Gift of Thanks

By Eric H., District 12 Newsletter Editor

Thanks for the gifts we've received through our "AA life". Thanks to a Higher Power for helping us to escape from the bondage of self. Thanks to the people who support us and guided us toward a better today. Thanks to our founders, Bill and Bob, and the original 100 AAs who've figured out a guide to recovery and living. Thanks to the staff of the General Service Office in New York, to the members of the AA General Service Conference (including the AA World Services and Grapevine/La Viña boards), and our Group, District and Area General Service representatives and officers who help hold our fellowship together and keep the doors open, publish the books, newsletters, pamphlets, magazines, and online content that we read, who inform us and provide timely news and inspiring articles.

But, gratitude is not just a word describing something we feel. Gratitude is an action and a state of being. Gratitude, put into action, is more profound and powerful than the hundreds of "thank yous" that we casually offer throughout our daily lives. Living in gratitude is about acknowledging the kindness and love that has been shown to us, and showing kindness and love in return.

So, I find myself reflecting on the recent elections in our Area and in our District. Scores of people made themselves available. And, many were elected to serve our fellowship in various capacities for the next two year panel (District's elections will continue in our December meeting). Those, who run for election, have a desire to put their gratitude into action.

I'm humbled and encouraged by the passion and selflessness demonstrated by the members who make themselves available to serve us. With anticipation, I'm looking forward to the panel's and officers' next two year term.
